Minority Stock - Holders of Butchers' Dressed Meat Co. Renew Legal Fight.

FIRE SOME HOT SHOT.

Declare Directors Held Fake Meeting to Evade By-Laws of the Concern.

Arthur Black Samuel Black and Aaron Buchsbaum, who sold $450,000 worth of stock-a controlling interest-to Mr. Joseph, and the State Bank, which is the depository of the stock pending the adjudication of the dispute. This is an action," said Mr. Cohen.

"to stop the carrying out of a conspiracy to defraud the plaintiffs and stockholders and to surrender the company to interests inimical to them and from carrying into execution a contract between individual directors for the sale of stock of the company, which was organized to conduct abattoirs for the benefit of retail butchers independent of the so-called Beef Trust combination of Western packers then in control of practically the entire beef industry in the United States.

Contract of Sale.

"Four of these defendants made contract to sell their stock-a majority of the $750,000 capital stock of the company-to Frederick Swift, the other de fendant, in violation of the by-laws.

"These four defendants at that fake meeting offered this stock to themselves as directors and as directors rejected the offfer, and then as individuals entered into the contract to sell the stock to Joseph.

"At the annual election, on Jan. 13, last, at which Frederick Joseph, who then owned twenty-four shares of stock, was elected president, the most high-handed tyranny was exercised. Prize fighters were hired for the occasion to indimidate the minority stock-holders, their counsel was ruled out of order at the first word he uttered in their behalf, and was thrust from the meeting room by one of the hired men, who, he afterward learned, was "Jack" McAuliffe, an ex-prize fighter. The minority, unable to take part in the body.

"Amateur night" has claimed two gentuses who broke into a theatre to day that they might rehearse their acts, alone and undisturbed, before a large and enthusiastic audience of empty seats.

This brace of youngsters, histrionic empty seats.

FIGHTER COBURN DEAD.

The second skirmish in what is called the struggle to rescue the New York Dutchers' Dressed Meat Company from the clutches of the Chicago Beef Trust which it was organized to fight, took place to day, before Justice Levintrit, in the Supreme Court. It was on a motion of Julius Heary Conen. Theodor Richer and William S. Creeves for an injunction to stop the consummation of the deal which they alleged, the retail men's corporation is to be delivered bound hand and foot into the hands of the Trust.

The suit is brought on behalf of Japob Black August F. Grimm, Louis E. Beckman, Peter Schmidt, Julius Dietz, Charles Grisone and other stockholders, as a minority, against the company and Frederick Joseph, its new president, and William G. Wagner. Arthur Black, Samuel Black and Aaron Bluckshaum, who sold $450,000 worth of the want of the company and Frederick Joseph, its new president, and William G. Wagner.
